

Overview

The purpose of this assessment is for you to begin sourcing, reading, and systematising literature that is relevant to your project. The format of this assessment will be chosen by your supervisor(s). Your supervisor(s) could choose for you to present the literature as an annotated bibliography, for you to present it using slides during one of your meetings, or for you to present it in some other way.

Instructions

For this assessment, you need to

- source any references provided by your supervisor(s),
- ask your supervisor(s) how many further references you should identify and source,
- identify and source those further references,
- read and systematise the references that you've sourced,
- ask your supervisor(s) about the format that your assessment should take (e.g. an annotated bibliography, an oral presentation, etc.),
- prepare your assessment in the relevant format,
- submit or complete your assessment by the due date.

If you are submitting a written assessment (including an annotated bibliography), you need to

- compile your assessment with LaTeX,
- complete this AI declaration form and include it as the last page of your assessment,
- use Turnitin generator 1 and/or Turnitin generator 2 to make sure that each source match on your Turnitin report (other than the citations and AI declaration form) is ≤1%,
- submit your assessment via this submission page (and not directly to your supervisor(s)).

Resources

Your main resources for this assessment are

- consultation with your supervisor(s),
- the relevant lectures listed on our course home page,
- this annotated bibliography example,
- this marking rubric,
- the Faculty of Science Student Guide to Responsible Use of AI for Learning.

Contribution

This assessment will constitute 30% of your final mark for the course.

Late submissions

If your assessment is not submitted or completed by the due date, you need to

- send me an email with your motivation for the late submission or completion (and supporting documents for it).

If your late submission or completion is not sufficiently motivated and is

- up to 48 hours late, its mark will be lowered by 10% (but not lowered to below 50% where relevant),
- 48 to 96 hours late, its mark will be lowered by 20% (but not lowered to below 50% where relevant),
- more than 96 hours late, its mark will be capped at 50%.

Academic misconduct

If your assessment is submitted with any source matches on the Turnitin report (other than the citations and AI declaration form) that are >1% and/or does not include an AI declaration and/or is suspected of other academic misconduct, it

- will be reviewed in accordance with the University's policy on academic misconduct,
- could have its mark capped between 50% and 0%.

Results

The mark and marking rubric for your assessment will be posted as soon as they are received from your supervisor(s). In some cases, it could be some weeks before they are.

If you want to check for the mark and marking rubric for your assessment, you can

- check for them on this results page.

If you're concerned about a delay, you can

- send me an email.
